STATE CAPITAL NEWS.

House Passes Torrens' Land Bill Appropriation Measures Approved by Senate.

Springfield, April 29.—The house this morning passed the Torrens' land bill amending the registration act as in operation in Cook county. The bill knocks out the abstract and title monopoly now enjoyed by the Chicago Title and Trust company. The bill provides that the real estate of deceased persons shall be registered under the Torrens system. It is estimated that in fifty years all the land in Cook county will be registered under the Torrens system.

Lindly's bill providing that township elections shall be held in all places with the general election in the year of the spring was defeated by a big vote. Southern Illinois members objected to the bill because it would give their town officers in partisan politics. Lindly supported the bill saying it would save the people from $100,000 to $200,000 a year and would cut down the number of elections.

Knicker, Rupp, Trautman and Knapp opposed the bill. Sherman spoke for it. Much good natured fun was indulged in during the debate and for the first time in several days the house was in good humor and enjoyed a laugh.

The Ft. Massac bill passed by the senate was reported with an amendment providing for $3,500 for the purchase of the property. The house had amended the bill to read $50 an acre for twenty acres. Mr. Bundy who put in the $50 an acre limitation said he had been reliably informed the property is worth $3,000 fair cash value. He would therefore favor the amendment.

The house voted for conference and the bill is ready for the governor's signature. This is the bill the daughters of the American Revolution favored.

Hefner called up the bill revising the military code of the Illinois National Guard. Schlagenhauf objected to certain features of the bill and a somewhat heated and spirited colloquy took place between Schlagenhauf and Schlagenhauf.

As the roll called proceeded Davis, of Cook, tried to explain. Schlagenhauf objected and many joined him. Davis had to sit down. Murray of Sangamon, tried the same thing, but the house cried for roll call so persistently that Murray finally after five minutes effort trying to brave the storm sat down. The bill passed by a safe margin.

The bill appropriating $12,000 for the transportation of troops to the St. Louis fair passed at noon. The bill was not opposed. Sherman who brought on second reading voted for the bill.

THE SENATE.

The senate this morning devoted its session to the passage of house appropriation bills. These acts have been passed by the house and were passed by the senate with few if any amendments. Where there are amendments they are sent to the house for approval. The bills when approved go to the governor for his signature.

The appropriation bills passed were:

For the normal school at DeKalb, regular.

For the normal school at DeKalb, special.

For the purchase of the site of Ft. Massac, $2,000.

For the ordinary and special of the normal school at Normal.

For the Illinois Firemen's association, $1,000.

For the ordinary expenses of the state board of agriculture for county fairs, $60,000.

For the State Horticultural society, $5,000 per annum.

For the Illinois Poultry association, $1,000 per annum.

For the Illinois Beekeepers' association, $1,000 per annum.

For the First regiment, I. N. G., for equipment used in Spanish war, $880.

For a monument to the victims of the Black Hawk massacre in LaSalle county, $5,000.

A CURIOUS DOCUMENT.

When Messrs. Schmalz & Son were cleaning out their cellar they came across an old account book kept by Kibbe & Lathrop almost fifty years ago, and written with the same care and accuracy which characterized the business methods of both of these gentlemen. The handwriting was excellent and the manner of keeping the accounts shows that they understood the principles of bookkeeping then as well as people of the present day. Glancing through it casually a most marvellous names were revealed. That of Ayers, Campbell & Co., indicate that they did business with the first banking establishment. Jerry Collins received a dollar that was due him in January, 1853. The name of C. W. Gillett figures frequently. Mrs. Sarah Pierson paid $10 on account and O. S. Burnham 30 cents. Stephen Green paid a dollar that he owed, John Goltz $80 on account, and it is safe to say that the firm had no anxiety whatever regarding the remainder that was coming from that man.

Judging from the books, one day Mrs. Joseph O. King and Mrs. Nimrod Dorrest found themselves a little short of change, as J. O. King is charged 65 cents loaned his wife, and Nimrod Doves $1 for the same purpose, and everyone knowing the pleasant relations existing in these families will soon decide that it was just an instance when the ladies forgot to take enough money with them for their day's shopping.

Dr. Joshua Rhoads is charged with $5.40 that was paid him, and Judge H. B. McClure figures in a 50-cent transaction. Shelton Mattingly's name is used in connection with a dollar's worth of business, and the Sigma Pi society of Illinois college is credited with $3.45 in full of account.

James Ransom, prompt then as he always was to the day of his death, pays $12 in full of account and J. Wilson Thompson $5.35 likewise. Mrs. Julia Walton squares her account $1.75; F. E. Dayton is credited with $5 on account; D. O. Gillett pays $3 for repair of gaiters, and S. R. Simon squares up with $3.25. G. & P. Bowser pay $11.40 on account, and other names scattered through the book are P. Homes, Robert Kershaw, Silas Terry, William Hall, residing west of the city, Armstrong Cooper, John Brainer, Derrick Dick, James Preston, L. H. Deaton, Julius F. Pratt, William Howard, Robert Osborne, John L. McConnell, Edward Rawlings, Mrs. Elizabeth Clayton, James B. Spies, Richard Dodsworth, William Rice, M. Haffaker, George Loar, Abraham Luter, John Schofield, Edmund Blackburn, John Leach, Jacob Strawn, David Cole, George Jamison, Henry R. Babb, Jonathan Richardson, Samuel H. Larimore, J. E. Cherry, Cyrus Matthews, E. Wolcott, E. K. Anderson, John M. Snyder, John Randall, George Walters, James Thomas, Dr. Henry Jones, M. Stacy, William Black, A. H. Virginia, John Bibb, Thomas Eads, Thomas Schofield, David Hamilton, Hiram Smedley, John Coults, Dwight Graves, W. Catlin, J. W. Galbraith, J. M. Sturtevant, Wm. T. Craig and others.

STATE PRESS TO MEET.

The thirty-third annual session of the Illinois Press Association will be held at Cairo, May 12, 13 and 14. A most interesting program has been arranged, covering every department in the office, from the mechanical to the business, and the work of every employee, from the proprietor to the "devil." The citizens of Cairo are also arranging much in a social way to make the visit there pleasant, realizing as they do the benefits to be derived from such a gathering of newspaper men. It is hoped this will be one of the largest meetings the association has held for years, and an effort is being made to increase the membership. Any one desiring to know the objects of the association will please address the secretary, J. M. Pace, Democrat, Jerseyville, Ill. Exchanges please copy.
